Epoch Clothes Rack

Clean lines, intuitive function and innate beauty define the Epoch Clothes Rack by Nina Bruun, one of two new designs from the Danish designer. Updating the ubiquitous coat rack and working from the idea of concealing unsightly hangers and tags behind something beautiful, the minimally elegant design profiles a considered combination of gently rounded edges, warm wood and discreet functionality. Developed and perfected over time, it is characterised by soft bands of undulating wood that sit like sculptures on a wall. Referencing 1950s design aesthetics and traditional craftsmanship, Epoch is pure in both form and material. Available in natural or dark stained oak, it is carefully sized to fit both purpose and place.

Epoch Shelf

One of two new designs that are coherent in design and carefully sized to fit both purpose and place, the Epoch Clothes Rack by Nina Bruun offers streamlined storage for spaces large and small. Improving and beautifying a well-known object using a wide band of wood, it is simple in both form and function. The space-saving wood veneer piece can be suspended alone or in rows of multiples. It features on the one side a deep shelf for everyday clutter and on the other a shelf on which to place decorative objects.

“The Epoch Collection is for still life displays, for everything we love to surround ourselves with – whether that’s objects or clothing – and to be used in personal and creative ways,” notes Bruun on the new collection.

About the Designer

Holding a master’s degree in Furniture and Spatial Design from The Royal Danish Academy of Design, Nina Bruun’s work as a designer has earned her a Red Dot Design Award and representation in the permanent collection at the Museum of Arts and Design in New York. She opened her consultancy in Copenhagen in 2016 and, together with her team, works across product design, visual identity and trend forecasting. Her innate understanding of form and uncompromising approach to quality result in lasting designs imbued with deeper meaning. Her work has been featured in titles such as Wallpaper, Le Figaro, The Herald Tribune and Design Milk.
